

As part of the Scottish Union Learning Young Workers' project, you are invited to "Change!", an evening of literature hosted by young and migrant workers.

Taking place from 6:30pm on Thursday, 16 March at the STUC Centre on Woodlands Road in Glasgow, we hope that you will help us celebrate the launch of our new book, which has been written about and by people on zero hours contracts.

The title will be revealed on the night!

You'll hear from Pinar Aksu of Migrant Voice, and others from the "A Story in a Poem project" who will read some of the poems they have written about their journey to Scotland.
